Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****.Excerpt from Physiological Archives, Vol. 2: Hull Physiological Laboratory Living matter is a collective term for the quality common to all living organisms. Comparative physiology alone enables us to discriminate between the general properties of living matter and the functions of specific organs, such as the blood, the nerves, the sense organs, chlorophyll, etc. Nothing has retarded the progress of physiology and pathology more than the neglect of comparative physiology. Comparative physiology shows that secretion is a general function of all living organisms and occurs even where there is no circulation. Hence it was a priori false and a waste of time to attempt to explain secretion from the experiments on blood pressure. Oxidations occur regardless of circulation and it was a priori a waste of time to consider the blood as the seat of oxidation. Comparative physiology has shown that the reactions of animals to light are identical with the heliotropic phenomena in plants. Hence it is a mistake to ascribe such reactions as the flying of the moth into the flame to specific functions of the brain and the eyes. Sleep is a phenomenon which occurs in insects and plants, and it would be a waste of time to attempt an explanation of sleep on the basis of phenomena of circulation. The best interests of physiology and pathology demand that the systematic development of Comparative physiology be one of the physiological problems of today.
