University of California Press. Hardcover. Condition: New. 244 pages. Dimensions: 9.0in. x 6.0in. x 0.6in. How could a regular person with above-average intelligence willingly confess to murder when we now know from DNA testing that someone else was the murderer How could ten witnesses say they were positive that this man was the perpetrator How could a supposedly neutral CSI forensic scientist say the defendants fingerprint matches the fingerprint on the bloody knife, when we now know that isnt true In this unprecedented view from the trenches, prosecutor turned champion for the innocent Mark Godsey takes us inside the frailties of the human mind as they unfold in real-world wrongful convictions. Drawing upon both psychological research and shocking--yet true--stories from his own career, Godsey shares how innate psychological flaws and the tough on crime political environment can cause investigations to go awry, leading to the conviction of innocent people. He not only sheds light on unintentional yet routine injustices but also recommends structural and procedural changes to restore justice to the criminal justice system. This item ships from multiple locations. Your book may arrive from Roseburg,OR, La Vergne,TN. Hardcover.
